In The Nation

A Check on C. I. A. That Worked Well

By ARTHUR KROCK.

WASHINGTON, April 24-What nated as "a Government-wide study para-military operations within Government" will be heavily the Government" will be heavily steps to be taken in so concentrated on the Central Intal fatture which occurred. ligetice Agency, especially on its that this program would have b operating function that many ob servers think should not be allowed to an intelligence-collecting group But in the course of the study the four distainguished persons the President appointed to conduct it may also find something of value in the record of a formal supervising committee for the agency that existed in its early period and is remembered as having worked well.

This committee was composed of three high officials—the under Secretaries of State and Defense and the Director of the C. I. A. Accordi ing to those familiar with the committee's history, it reviewed all proposed projects of the agency, decided whether to approve or disapprove them, reported its judgments to the National Security Council and kept key members of Congress informally advised of C. I. A. operations. One day a week was assigned to the re view with whatever additional time was necessary for the reports to the of the commission, and that was for the relays.

This check on C. I. A. projects, as that recently in the rebel lands was in charge of the C. I. A., Directings in Cuba. Also, the recurrent tor Dulles has always opposed it. At watchdo committee made no head smith, frequently briefs key members of comparable to the formal supervisory bers of Congress. But this informations of the disastrous cuban additional process is not comparable to that we disastrous cuban additional committee on Atomic venture, or both, and advised that The old C. I. A. supervising comventure for both, and advised the The old C. I. A. supervising com-N. S. C. and the President against inities of three took the middle posi-same signment of responsibility for the C. I. A., the faults of the concert and the timing of the anti-cast of the timing would not have been approved to they were by all officials of the advantage of the advan

If this opinion is accepted as rea sonable speculation, on the basis that the defects of the project would have been urged with the authority and prestige of two members, or even one, of an official supervising group of the C. I. A, then there is room for the further speculation that the President would have refurned the project to the agency for more deliberation and repairs. And, since developments, subsequent the President has officially desig- to the fallure in Cube at least siggest that no definite program was laid out for immediate and positive It may b in readiness if a strong dissent had been registered in advance of the expedition by members of a C. I. A. supervising committee,

Revival of Call for a Watchdog'

At any rate, an inspection of the committee's record would appear to commend itself to the four Presidential appointees to make the forthcoming study-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Attorney General Kennedy, Admiral Burke and C. I. A. Director Dulles. Findings should be highly pertinent to the expected renewal of proposals that the agency, like the Atomic Energy Commission, be supervised by a joint Congressional committee. This relation of Congress to the A..E. C. is established in law. And, though secrecy of projects and operations is as indispensable to the A. E. C. as it is to the C. I. A., there has been only one Congressional leak of any consequence at the expense unimportant in consequences. The vital element of secrecy for and the informatory meetings with successfully urged thus far against agency activities, however, has been Congressional leaders, must be asproposals that Congress assume to sumed to have worked well because it a similar legal relation. Though in this period the agency was not in a law to this effect was favored by volved in any disastrous failure, such Gen. W. Bedell Smith when he train forever in the implicion and regularly though informally penetrable and land of speculation and regularly though informally benetrable and land of speculation kept certain leaders of Congress lieve that it is counterpart of the organization had been in existence of group might profit by reviewing this the last few weeks, and with the last few weeks, and with the last few weeks.

Proved For Release 2000/04/13 : CIA-RDP70-00058-000200140200-2